

A Writer's Place

Traditionally, Towerland has come to host a time dedicated to writing, during spring of each year.

Sue Davidoff and Allan Kaplan invite you to consider..

A two week period, open to all who wish to deepen their writing endeavours in any way, for as long a time as you wish to stay.

This year, the first of these weeks will incorporate a writing workshop on the 'art of portrayal writing' - phenomenological approaches to writing within the field of social inquiry.

Coming to Towerland at this time, you may choose to join this process, or not - there are no obligations during this writing period, except to have dinner together every evening.
